

Chronology of Misdoings and Adventures

Tuesday November 15, 1932 2:30 PM – Two Wonders known as the Ringmaster and Giselda along with a swarm of thugs attempt to rob the Bank of Montreal at the corner of Queen and Victoria. They are thwarted by The Watcher, The Shadow, Mighty Mite, Zygote the Fabulous Foetus and The White Ghost. The bank robbers were apprehended or killed by parties unknown but the Ringmaster and Giselda both escaped, the former by teleportation, the latter by threatening innocent bystanders.

Tuesday November 15, 1932 Evening – The Watcher detected the Ringmaster and the Wonders pursued him and the care he was in all the way to Stevenson Field where a blimp belonging to Sir Hamish was destroyed. Both the Ringmaster and Giselda were arrested. Mysterious Bowler man disappears from the scene. Sir Hamish is cleared of wrong doings at the scene.

Wednesday November 16, 1932 – The Watcher and the White Shadow interview the crown prosecutor and watch the arraignment of the Ringmaster and Giselda.

Thursday November 17, 1932 Late Evening – Mighty Mite and the Shadow attempt to gain egress into Sir Hamish's East Gate home. Their attempt is thwarted by Neutralium defenses in the walls.

Friday November 18, 1932 Early Morning – Sir Hamish and his family and their driver are killed when their car is destroyed by an airborne bomb outside the Rupert's Land School for Girls.

Friday November 18, 1932 Afternoon – Wonders officially investigate the Macdougall family home and discover only one thing of interest, a Neutralium reinforced safe.

Friday November 18, 1932 Evening – Wonders travel to the Comet Club where they encounter Trunky's guardian Little Pierre who scares the bejesus out of The Watcher. Trunky gives the party a lead in the form of the name of a criminal fixer who arranges hiring for criminals.

Saturday November 19, 1932 Morning – Mighty Mite and The Shadow decide to fly to Bisset to check out the San Antonio mine while The Watcher, the White Ghost and Zygote the Fabulous Foetus go to Headingley to interrogate the lead Trunky gave them. They speak to the lead who claims he arranger for some thugs to work for “..some guy wearing a bowler hat.” He hadn't wanted to divulge that much but he was emotion controlled to fall in love with the Zygote so he spilled the beans.

Meanwhile Mighty Mite and The Shadow arrived at the mine and gained entry. They travelled a mile down when The Shadow started getting nervous and returned to the surface. While waiting for a chance to enter a portal of Neutralium Mighty Mite was spotted by Lady Ruin who managed to stun him so he was captured. Up on the surface the soldiers guarding the mine detected The Shadow and captured him too.

Sunday November 20, 1932 Morning – A chauffeur arrives at Gingerbread Hall with an invitation for the Wonders to travel to Bisset to speak with the captors of Mighty Mite and The Shadow. Zygote the Fabulous Foetus and Jeeves decide to do so. They meet Lord Rack, who claims to be the brother of Lady Ruin on the train by which they travel to Bisset.

Once they reach Bisset they travel down into the mines where they pass through the Neutralium portals. Beyond the portals is a large dark room. In the darkness the Zygote detects a lurking mind filled with hunger. They meet Lady Ruin, their friends are freed from their confinement and the real Sir Hamish explains what is going on. He asks them for their assistance in figuring out what his wife is up to.

Sunday November 20, 1932 Afternoon – Upon return to Assiniboia the Watcher Men (and Woman) and Ape)) are called to the scene of a robbery in the safety deposit vault of the Bank of Montreal at the corner of Victoria and Queen. The vault had been entered and ransacked. Little seemed to have been stolen but the guard was discovered to have been poisoned.

Later that same afternoon some team members are called to the Royal Alexandra Hotel where they discover the half-eaten corpse of one Sir Clarence Herbert Cartwright. It was determined that it was his safety deposit box that was the last one to be opened. No clues seemed to point to the cause of his death but he had been seen in the hotel after his death!

Sir Hamish telephones Gingerbread Hall and arranges to attend his own funeral.

Monday November 21, 1932 – The Watcher Men (and Woman) and Ape)) learn that The Ringmaster and Giselda have escaped Stony Mountain. Apparently they just walked out. Using his wondrous locate ability The Watcher determined he was holed up in Cold Springs, MB just this side of Lundar. The fliers in the party took off in pursuit while Jeeves tore after them in his souped up luxury sedan.

When they reached the hideout they found it to be a barn in the middle of nowhere. They investigated and discovered that the interior was nearly pitch black but The Ringmaster was tied to a chair with a sack over his head! After some scouting Jeeves entered the barn and grabbed The Ringmaster. This was when all hell broke loose and an enormous otherworldly monster that would have struck terror in lesser beings emerged from the earth.

In the ensuing fight Jeeves and the Zygote were badly wounded and some of their vitality permanently drained! But our heroes prevailed despite a spectacular crash landing by Mighty Mite and the monstrosity was dispatched to the hell it had emerged from. Quick first aid by the Dust Devil restored Jeeves and the Zygote to consciousness, if not full health. They returned The Ringmaster to Stony Mountain where they learned that he and Giselda had just walked out in the company of a man in a bowler hat. The guard who had driven them away was found in a burned out wreck not far from the prison. This was proving to be quite a pickle.

Tuesday November 22, 1932 – Jeeves and the Zygote travelled into Wonderton where they arrange with Trunky the unofficial mayor of Wonderton to get healed of their damage. She is appalled by their account of goings on and agrees to share information with the team.

The Watcher, the Shadow and the White Ghost try to track the mysterious editor of Lux Veritas down by sending a letter to their PO box. This ploy works, sort of as they lose an hour of time but gain a bit more knowledge about the mysterious A. Nonymous who claims in another letter that he's their friend.

Mighty Mite arranges an appointment with Sir Hamish and arranges to help bodyguard him for Wednesday's funeral. After some confusion Sir Hamish admits that he had created the mysterious Bowler Hats which he claims had protective abilities that anyone could use.

In the late afternoon Mighty Mite flies to Bisset and travels back to Assiniboia by train and with the rest of The Watcher Men (and Woman) and Ape)) stay for the night at the Hotel Fort Garry.

Wednesday November 23, 1932 AM - The Watcher Men (and Woman) and Ape)) travel to the First Presbyterian Church where they station themselves for the most part in the choir loft where Sir Hamish has arranged to watch the funeral. In the choir loft, which was closed off by a see through curtain was Sir Hamish, Lady Ruin, Lord Wrack, the Mountie, Petite Jeanne, and Northwind. Also there were Jeeves, the Zygote, and the White Ghost.

Flying around outside was Mighty Mite. The Watcher was stationed in the vestibule where he could check people coming in for Wondrous powers. The Shadow was in a pew. The Ghost of Sir John A. Macdonald was keeping watch invisibly. Suddenly the Watcher spotted the late Sir Clarence Herbert Cartwright trying to enter the church. He grabbed him by the elbow and tried to usher him outside. He then telepathically communicated with the only team member he could see, the Shadow. He asked him to tell the rest of the team that he'd captured whatever the fake Sir Clarence was. Unfortunately the Shadow choose to turn invisible and fly up to the choir loft. As he was in clear sight in the church his sudden disappearance triggered a panic.

People started fleeing, the funeral was postponed, a trigger happy RCMP officer shot Jeeves with a Neutralium bullet and the Watcher and Sir Clarence were arrested. Fortunately Jeeves was saved by some quick surgery at Winnipeg General Hospital, misunderstandings were corrected, and the Watcher and Sir Clarence were delivered to the Gingerbread Hall. The addled seeming Sir Clarence was locked up in a Wondrous cell and the The Watcher Men (and Woman) and Ape)) were happy to go to bed.

Thursday November 24, 1932

The second funeral of the fake Sir Hamish went off without a hitch. The team returned to Gingerbread Hall to question the fake Sir Clarence. He seemed weirdly disjointed and alternated between thinking he was Sir Clarence and something else. He threatened the team in this other persona and exhibited weird powers of persuasion getting the team to dance at command. He also told them that the time of monkeys was over and his kind would be taking over again! He laughed at their discomfort and told them they shouldn't have been drinking the water.

At this point two of the RCMP entered the room escorting a man wearing a bowler hat. Mighty Mite attacked Sir Clarence hoping to free the team from the malign influence. After striking Sir Clarence, and killing him, the bowler hat man told the entire party to sleep.

Friday December 30, 1932

Mighty Mite awakes in hospital where he finds the entire team has been asleep since the attack. They leave the hospital and return to Gingerbread Hall. They warn their allies, Trunky and Sir Hamish and the Maple Squad. They discover that a strange series of thefts have stolen a great many chemicals and odd ingredients from all over Assiniboia. Sir Hamish arranges to get the McPhillips reservoir inspected. The Watcher uses his powers to locate Sir Clarence which leads the team to a shallow grave near the Zoo. In the hole they find a serpentine humanoid with a hole in his chest!

Shortly after Mighty Mite has returned from Bisset Lord Wrack calls and tells the team that the person sent to test the water has disappeared. The team heads to the reservoir where they discover the abandoned car and investigating discover a group of ghouls dining on the missing civil servant. They engage in battle hampered by the absolute darkness but manage to kill two of the creatures and send the other three fleeing.

Last Updated September 4, 2022