

Editor's Notes: this is written on the waxed side of butcher's paper so may be inappropriate for a final report to Ottawa.

Jeeves' notes

The nice thing about being a 900 pound gorilla is that after being given a ream of butcher's paper and chinagraph pencils you can sit anywhere you want and start writing. Rose, bless her soul, is not here so I will write this. If this goes bad there will be no one to read this if they go just bit wrong I could go down in a hail netralium bullets.

After we go back from the water pumping station there was another note from A nonymous. Shadow people control us by scent and can be recognized by shadows. I hopped over to Trunky and gave her the info. I am carrying a flask bleach to kill sense of smell but I have not worked up the nerve to use it yet. We also told the maple squad about this. oh the lizard people plan to control the world leaders and sacrifice most of humanity in some dark ritual. We figure the queens speech tonight may be used to do this. We know from before that the water is probably how the make us able to be controlled. we have not been drinking the water recently so may be safe.

We all went to the Alexandera hotel to join the security. there was morning meeting where I checked Lord Wrack's shadow. Lady Ruin was not pleased. The Watcher flew around and checked that all known wonders in the area were still wonders. We think if replaced by lizard guys they would not be wonderous. We talked to PM about the lizard guys plans and had lunch with the Queen and short audience with the Queen afterwards. We told her about the lizard plan and checked everyone in the hotel for lizard shadows. The Queen won't say what is in the speech but says it is important. She is probably controlled. The fetus just wants to destroy everything to stop the speech. I think if we do that before having evidence that she is controlled will just get us killed and speech will happen the next day when repairs are made. She will make the speech from her room and there is a cable from her room to the roof. The place is crawling with trigger happy guards with netralium bullets so any overt acts of violence have high chance of ending fatally.

I should try to work up the nerve to put a bleach covered scarf on before the speech. Maybe some violenst type could block our noses and ears and be in position to disable the radio transmission. The watcher and fetus could listen to speech sending us pre-arranged do not destroy stuff everything is ok messages telepathically. it is unlikely the lizard's first commands would be to keep sending every thing is ok messages. When we violent types stop getting everything is ok messages we start breaking the radio equipment, cables tower, power lines, etc. That way people will have heard the first part of the message and know something is terribly wrong with the Queen and maybe other leaders. Florence Nightingale may be able to help once she knows there is a problem. Also the Canadian, British and foriegn powers would also be alerted to the threat and believe it is real.

This writing stuff down is useful for planning but it is a lot of work.