

How to Use the Naminator

- 1) Roll a die eight for a male or a die four for female.
- 2) Roll the appropriate die for that column.
- 3) Repeat for last name adding "son" or "daughter" to the end of the name. For a bit of a change use a masculine name for a woman's last name and vice versa. Maybe that parent was more important.

The beauty of the Naminator is that it is low tech. Feel free to print off these pages and use them on the fly in your campaign.

The Epithetisizer

The Epithetisizer is your source of epithets or bynames (again drawn primarily from Norse sources, those that appear in King of Sartar are marked with an asterisk). I've gathered some Norse bynames here, some are so bizarre that I haven't included them. The source of these names was the following page <http://www.sit.wisc.edu/~sfriedemann/names/vikbynames.htm> by Sara L. Friedemann. Some names are appended to the front of your name (those with the hyphen after them, actually any of them could be done that way), while others are added to the end of the name as So an so the whatever. There are three lists of male names and one short one of female names though if your character is a female warrior there's no reason why they couldn't use many of male ones.

You can either roll 1D3 to make your choice and then the appropriate die depending on column or just choose.
